PAUL'S

Patent Columbian Oil.

In respect to which the Proprietor observes:—

"THE great sales of the Columbian Oil, since it has been brought before the public, prove its intrinsic value, and is a pleasing foreboding of what we have to expect from its more extensive circulation.

Many interesting certificates might be furnished, testifying to the great value of the Columbian Oil, but we have preferred giving but few, wishing to rest more on the merits of the medicine, than on the effects produced by certificates from a source however respectable.

The following are among the complaints in which the Columbian Oil has been found very efficacious, viz. rheumatism, consumption, gout, pains in any part of the body, but more particularly of the back and breast: asthma, phthisic, influenza, colds, coughs, whooping coughs, diseases of the eye and eye lids, toothache, ear ache, and deafness, cholic, cramps, external and internal bruises, sprains and flesh wounds old sores, ulcers, felons, scalds, burns, mumps, dysentery or flux, croup, quinzy, diarhœa or lax, summer complaint of children, indigestion, loss of appetite, nervous debility, piles, mercurial diseases, especially in those cases where the system has been charged with mercury for some considerable time, and in those excruciating pains subsequent to its too great use and exposure. Herpes, or diseases of the skin, such as ring worms, tetters, scald head, &c. stiffness of joints and limbs, palsy ague and fever, cholera morbus, gravel, gleetes, obstructed urine, scurvy, and in almost all cases of a general or local nature.

We are aware that in recommending a medicine in so many diseases, the public, especially those who have not used the Oil, may be induced to question its virtues, but a disposition of this nature will soon be dissipated, when they are informed that a great proportion of the diseases are owing to the same general cause — And in those cases where the diseases differ materially in their nature, the effects produced are nearly the same, although not on the same principle.

A supply of the above just received and for sale by RICHARD H. LITLE, Druggist, King street.

ON HAND.

A Family Lecture.

"Gather up the fragments that nothing be lost."

This one scriptural line speaks volumes—What! did he who multiplied the loaves & the fishes by only a word speaking, did he give order to gather up their fragments so carefully that nothing of them should be lost? Assuredly it follows that every kind and degree of wastefulness is an offence against christian morals Consider it, ye rich who waste what would be amply enough for the sustention of many poor Consider it also ye of the middling and poorer classes, who are bringing yourselves into needs & straits by your thoughtless wastefulness.

Saving economy is a christian duty—And of what distinctive quality is it? It is not the idolatrous covetousness that appropriates all to itself, and sends the needy away empty. It is not the sordid parsimony that grudges moderately to use and saves only to board. It is not the niggardly economy— "penny wise, and pound foolish"—that incures serious losses, by withholding trifling expenses at such times as they are required, No, it is a prudent care that nothing be lost. It will give away when duty calls, but never will throw away. In sober truth, wastefullness is not to be regarded as a mere foible but as a trespass against a clear article in the moral code of our holy religion.

Most of estates have been gathered from small savings Out of small savings they have grown up by little and little, till in a long course of years they come to be of great, or of considerable magnitude.

Again, men who, and whose wives, have been industrious and prudently saving, have brought up families of children in a snug comfortable way though it seemed, even to themselves a marvel how they had done it with so slender means.

Contrariwise, a great many estates have run out at small leaks. For want of prudent care they wasted a way in numerous little streamlets, while the owners were in no wise prodigal or extravagant in any notorious instances.

Moreover, there are families possessing incomes fully sufficient, who fare but indifferently as to the quality of their meals, and yet are in straits merely for want of a saving & skilful course of economy.

The main pillar of domestic economy is the wife. Under the management of one who "looketh well to the ways of her household" a small income is more competent, than a two fold greater income committed to the hands of a woman of careless, improvident, & wastefulhabits.

As the Scotch proverb says, "Many a little makes a mikle" ora much. The savings in a family, of six cents a day, would seem a trifle; yet in a long run it is no trifle, In a year it amounts to 22 dollars nearly; and, to a family in small circumstances, it is of considerable consequence whether it have, at the end of the year 22 dollars aforehand, or nothing at all. In the course of 20 years, the savings of only six cents a day would amount to about 440 dollars; and if the interest were all along reckoned, up to the last year, the amount would be nearly double:—making in the whole a pretty good estate for a family in the small way.

In these hard times, and in all times indeed, men of but small incomes, must learn, and their wives must learn, how to calculate fractions, or their sums will come out wrong at last. With the poor, and even with the generality of those in middling circumstances—to live, or not to live that's the question now. If they would wish to make a comfortable living at all, they must mind the little in their secular affairs.

As man is a laughing animal as well as a proud one, it is not unlikely that some readers will bestow the laugh of ridicule upon this sentiment; but they can't laugh away the truth of it.

SABBATH MORNING

"'Tis Sabbath morning," says the labourer, as he rises and walks to his door, "and I am not obliged to go out to a day's work. I can take my rest as well as the richest man in the neighborhood; and shall be stronger and fresher for my task to morrow I like to have a little time to think and look about me; for it is not well for the mind or the body to be always hard at work. The poor cattle want rest as well as their masters; and if there was no other advantage than laying aside our toils one day in seven, it would be a greater favor to labouring people to have the quiet Sabbath come.'

"'Tis Sabbath morning again, says the absent child, "and how fair and beautiful is nature. The deep drop still hangs on the bough, tho' its verdure is changed to the sickliness of autumn. No sound breaks the silence of the hour, save the clear and melodious sound of the "church going bell." How sweet is the rest of the Sabbath. How delightful the thought, that distant friends unite in the same solemn services, at the same time Their prayers their praises ascend together at the same moment; their hearts mingle, one God accepts them, the sabbath blots out the distance, and seems to make but one fold and one Shepherd'

"'Tis Sabbath morning," says the man of the world, "and I have finished my breakfast time enough to go to church. So I will go; because I like to set a good example: and I shall perhaps meet some people that I like to see. Sometimes I hear some news at the door: at any rate it is a quiet place to sit and think in; and I have the best nap there that I get in the course of the week. I hope we shan't have a long sermon, that my dinner might not spoil before I could get home: for I don't believe people are any better for preaching, after they grow tired and hungry, and keep looking at their watches and wishing every word was the last"

"'Tis Sabbath morning," says the christian and my soul may repose itself in God its exceeding joy I venerate the example of my maker, when he rested on the seventh day from the labors of creation: and I love the voice that pronounces, "Remember my Sabbath day to keep it holy" The command given to the chosen people, "ye shall keep my sabbaths and reverence my sanctuary" was enforced by the solemn assertion. I am the Lord: as if he would enforce obedience by every feeling of gratitude and by every recollection of terror connected with that majestic name Let me then for a season, renounce the pursuits the amusements and the cares of the world. I would say to them in the language of the patriarch, "Abide here for a season while I go yonder and worship." This is the day on which my Saviour rose from his earthly prison. I seem to look upon his empty sepulchre and to hear a voice teaching my spirit, "If ye then be risen Christ, seek those things that are above, where he sitteth at the right hand of God' To day, then will I seek for the wisdom that cometh from above. May its pure and celestial influence prepare me for a more faithful discharge of the duties of life and for an entrance into the rest of an eternal Sabbath.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 19.

The communication below was received on Saturday at too late an hour for insertion in our paper of Monday; it was accidentally mislaid and forgotten, or it should have appeared yesterday. We now with pleasure lay it before our readers.

COMMUNICATION.

On Friday last, the principal Tavern in this place, occupied by Mr. M'Laughlin, narrowly escaped destruction by fire. The weather, during the whole of that day, was more intensely cold than has been experienced for many years, and the wind so violent and piercing from the N. W. as to excite among our citizens a pretty general expectation of the much dreaded alarm. About 2 o'clock in the evening, one of the north chimneys of the hotel was discovered to be on fire, and from the immense volume of flame that issued it was but too evident that it had long been neglected by the occupant, and that great danger might be expected; large flakes of fire driven furiously by the wind, soon communicated to the shingles which being as dry as tinder, commenced burning in several places, and would in the course of a few minutes have wrapped the whole building in flame, had not the timely assistance of a few deserving individuals arrested its progress and saved from inevitable destruction not only that large and valuable establishment, but the most important part of the town. Such was the extreme coldness that water congealed almost immediately after throwing it on the roof, and the violence of the wind would have marred all attempts to subdue the flame if it had gained any height. Too much praise cannot be bestowed upon the prompt and efficient exertions of the individuals who, biding the tempest and the cold, ascended to the top of this high house and at the risk of their lives saved from poverty and distress many deserving families. Among the persons thus engaged, we noticed with satisfaction Mr. Murray the constable, who while some of his coadjuters, whose names ought to be mentioned were leisurely and at a respectable distance, viewing unconcerned the awful crisis, mounted the roof and crawling from one extremity to the other, succeeded in putting down the kindling flame. Such conduct deserves the highest commendation and reward. Captain M'Gunn, too, so justly celebrated for his great exertions on former occasions, deserves on this, the thanks of his fellow citizens for his ready aid, skill and judicious management in extinguishing the fire. Mr. Myers, the carpenter, and several others, deserve great credit. Although the alarm was not sounded, yet we noticed with much pleasure, that an engine was already on the spot, filled and prepared for service; Mr. Pascoe, its commander, merits our warmest commendations for his prompt and active attention to his duty with which he appeared well acquainted, justly appreciating the great importance of being always ready, and not, as too many do, wait until perhaps too late.

It is with much satisfaction we learn that the meritorious exertions of individuals will in future be amply rewarded for their praise-worthy conduct. The Fire Insurance Company in this place have, we understand, appropriated a fund for rewarding the deserving without distinction, and we have no doubt but their example will be followed by other public institutions of this place, thus affording encouragement and support to those who may distinguish themselves by their activity. While, however, we are induced to render our grateful thanks to those who manifest a disposition to patronize and encourage persons who have and will aid in suppressing this dreadful calamity, we cannot but view with surprize and regret the great apathy and indifference with which our citizens treat the subject of insurance against fire. It would scarcely be credited that in a town situated as this is, so few of its inhabitants have secured themselves and families from loss or damage by fire; it is still more surprizing and to be regretted that fathers of families and guardians of children, who have their all under one roof, should hesitate one moment in fulfilling this important duty enjoined on them by justice and necessity. But for the timely discovery of the subject of this communication, what would have been the situation at this moment of many, now independent and reputable families? But for the timely discovery of the subject of this communication, what would have been the situation at this moment of many, now independent and reputable families? the columns of your paper this morning, Mr. Editor, would have been crowded with details dreadful to think of; you would have stated, as is quite common on such occasions, the immense amount of property destroyed, and not a cent insured; you would have recorded the number and names of those, who were but yesterday in easy circumstances, now reduced to worse than nothing; you would have pointed to the fathers and guardians, whose neglect of duty has plunged the families, and children committed to their care, into poverty and distress, and themselves into ignominy. Surely this important subject will no longer be neglected by those who cannot afford to lose their houses. If it were difficult and expensive to effect insurance, some excuse might be offered in extenuation; but while we have the means at our doors, and an office incorporated by congress, with an ample capital for all the purposes, justice requires that it should be promptly attended to.

The following memorial is submitted to the consideration of the citizens of Alexandria, under an impression that there exists little or no difference of opinion among them on the subject to which it relates. Two or three copies taken and circulated by as many active individuals, or even a single copy placed in the Exchange Coffee-House, would soon obtain a sufficient number of signatures to command the attention of Congress.

MEMORIAL.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States, in Congress assembled:—

The memorial of the subscribers, citizens of Alexandria, respectfully represent,

That in the year——, that part of what is now called the District of Columbia, lying on the south side of the river Potomac, was ceded by the state of Virginia, to the general government, for the purpose of completing a territory of 10 miles square, over which, the latter, were by the Constitution of the United States, empowered to exercise exclusive jurisdiction. The cession was (or your memorialists believe,) both made and accepted, with the most liberal views; and the inhabitants of the territory in question, readily yielded their assent to a measure, which by bringing them more immediately under the eye of their government, promised them the most prompt and beneficial attention to their general interests. An experience of —— years, however, has satisfied your memorialists, that none of the promised advantages have resulted from the change: and they have, accordingly, looked to their restoration to the state from which they have been taken, as the means, not only of promoting their own prosperity, but of relieving the general government from an increasing, and an unprofitable burden. Cut off from all participation in the political power, secured by the constitution to every other part of the Union; the inhabitants of the District of Columbia, hold even their civil rights, dependent on the will of a government, in whose councils they have no voice, over whose deliberations they can exercise no control, and to whose attention they can use no other claim, than such as must address itself exclusively to the justice and forbearance of its administrators. The experience of the world has demonstrated that rights thus held, are held by a feeble tenure, and the only example of our own country, affords an evidence of the importance of that principle, which secures to the citizen a fair participation in the enactment of laws, to whose operation he is bound to submit himself.

These considerations alone, would in the opinion of your memorialists, justify, not only a serious apprehension, as to the permanent security of their rights, but also every constitutional effort to place them on a more eligible footing. They derive additional force, however, from the recollection, that, now the destiny of the citizen is committed, not merely to a government, over which he has no control, but to a government, the greater part of whose attention is necessarily and almost constantly directed to weightier concerns. The consequence is, (as would naturally be expected,) the postponement from day to day, and from year to year, of most of the measures, whether of justice or expediency, in which he alone is interested, and while his neighbors on every side are enjoying the benefits of such improvement in their civil and political codes, as wisdom and experience are hourly suggesting, he is left to the continued operation of a system of laws, suited to other times, and adopted under other circumstances than now exist.

These evils sensibly as they must be felt by every part of the District, operate, with peculiar force, on the town of Alexandria; too remote from the seat of government, to be the object of daily and personal attention to its offices, and having no individual on the floor of Congress, immediately interested in its concerns; the nature and urgency of its wants can be made known only by repeated unofficial, and detailed representations. To say nothing, of the inconvenience, to which the citizens themselves can hardly be expected, that they should obtain from the members of your honorable body, harrassed and worn down by the more important duties of your station, that attention to their representations necessary to render them of any avail; and they are accordingly, for the most part, either heard, and not understood, or understood without being regarded.

From a situation so degrading, so totally incompatible both with their feelings and their interests, it cannot be thought unreasonable, that your memorialists should wish to be relieved. They therefore solicit your honorable body, the early adoption of such measures, as, by restoring them to the bosom of the state, from which they have been taken, will afford them, at once effectual and permanent relief.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT AT WASHINGTON.

February 18.

Mr. Williams's proposition to repeal the internal taxes was yesterday brought forward and by a vote of the house discussed to the exclusion protempore of all the orders of the day. Taking the opinions of the house on both sides of the question for my guide—and on both sides of the question federalists appeared mingled with democrats, I am disposed to think that it is one of those cases in which, to use Sir Roger de Coverley's words, much may be said on both sides, and indeed much was said on both sides. To introduce the question at this time when the residue of the session will not half suffice for the discharge of the necessary business of Congress, is not desirable: besides, it looks like taking the house by surprize. Again, is there not something like inconsiderate zeal in all at once breaking down a system of taxation and destroying the balance between the impost duties and the internal taxes? The power lodged in officers to enter a house in order to search it, is certainly a great evil; but it is an evil attached to particular callings only, which no doubt possess in their privileges and emoluments a considerable equivalent. Yet it is an evil; but the impost duties seem to be more serious ones in the inordinate prices they occasion upon every imported article, to the exclusive oppression of the poor; while the internal taxes affect only the rich.

When I hear people exclaiming against a tax upon poison whiskey, a luxury of the most demoralizing quality, and yet find them contented in acquiesing under a sugar tax, which defrauds the children of the poor of many a mouthful, whatever I may think of their patriotism, I cannot applaud their judgment or their feeling.

In another point of view I am not quite smitten with love of this new measure, you know I am not afraid of the present administration, but such as it is, the public good demands that its operations should not be unnecessarily embarrassed. Introducing this at this crisis will embarrass them. At the same time, I own that it is of some consequence to crush in the shell the embrao of a standing army, and this may have that effect.

I write in a hurry—the business will be on to-day again, and you shall hear further from me when it is over and I have time to write at length about it.

At the close of the poll for President and Directors of the Alexandria Library Company, on Monday 17th inst. the following gentlemen were found to be duly elected.—John Roberts President, Phineas Janney, James Keith, Jr. Hugh Smith, Jacob Hoffman, Charles Bennett, Nathaniel Wattles Craven P. Thompson, Wm. Fitzhugh, James Carson, James L. M'Kenna and George A Thornton, Directors.

Noble Revenge of a grateful Soul.

"To err is human, to forgive divine."

When prejudice, bigotry and passion, are called into action, a wise man will hardly expect, by any apology, by argument or by explanation to stop their progress, he might as well expect to command the forked lightning, stop the roaring thunder, confine violent tornadoes, or lash the foaming tempestuous ocean to submission. Vain and presumptuous attempt! therefore make a solemn pause, prophetic of a calm—let the storm pass by, and wait the calm return of reason to her throne. If thou hast taken a wrong position in the hurricane of passion, abandon it: if thou hast committed an error, confess and correct it; but if, upon a strict scrutin, thy conscience is satisfied with the part thou has acted, or the duty thou has performed, then tranquil and self possessed, abide the revile not in return; if he has talents honor them; if he merits thy respect, render it unto him; favour his interest; deal gently with his failings; shield his fame. Do even more than all this; if he be in affliction, sympathize with him; if he be sick or in prison, visit him and administer to his necessities; if he be hungry, feed him; if naked, clothe him; & let his loins be warmed with the web of thy compassion; and if thou hast but one loaf and one couch, let the half be at his service; as for the injury thou may have imagined thyself to have suffered, nobly forgive it, & pray Almighty God to forgive it, and blot out from the annals of his remembrance, and cancel it also from thy own bosom. By so doing thou wilt heap coals of fire upon his head, not to consume him, but to melt his adamantine heart into tenderness and light up the hallowed torch of affection in his soul.

Reader! mayest thou and I, and all mankind, feel the force of the motto "To err is human, to forgive divine:" and at the footstool of mercy may we meet our enemies, forget their injuries, bury our vengence, & learn to forgive those who have trespassed against us, as well as we also hope to be forgiven of the Omnipotent Sovereign of Heaven.

IN COUNCIL, February 15.

The committee appointed to distribute the donation of the late O. F. Magrath, made a report on the subject, and submitted the following order which was read—

Ordered, that the auditor do issue a warrant for 28 dollars and 50 cents, in favor of Cook and Clare, for wood purchased for the use of the poor, & charge the same to the general fund.

A communication from the mayor, recommending an amendment to the existing poor laws was read and referred to Messrs Deneale, Veitch, Sanford and Morgan.

An act making an appropriation for the relief of the poor and other purposes, was read a first and second time & laid on the table.

The taxes due from Sarah Ballenger, Francis Parsons and Arcadia Jacobs, for the last year were remitted.

The collection of the taxes due from Samuel Calvert, a colored man, was suspended until first of May; those from Job Demain until first of June, and those from Richard M'Kee until first of July next.

Ordered, that the story tax charged upon the bake houses of Henry Nicholson, Robert Anderson and Andrew Jamieson be remitted.

Ordered, that the auditor do pay to the respective persons who have been fined by the mayor, the fines by them severally paid under the judgments against them for a supposed violation of the laws of the corporation, the same having been remitted by the council; and the mayor is requested to certify to the auditor the names of the persons and sums to be paid them.

Notice.

The public are hereby informed that a Company has been formed under the title of THE QUANTICO WAREHOUSE COMPANY, who have erected, one mile below the town of Dumfries, a large and convenient Warehouse on Quantico creek, for the storage of flour, grain, etc. which warehouse will be ready for the reception of produce on Monday the third of Feb. next. The trustees of said Company have appointed Zebulon Kankey their Agent, to attend the said Warehouse, to receive produce on storage and grant receipts for the same. And for the prompt delivery of all articles received in the said warehouse by their agent, (fire alone excepted) the Company hold themselves bound. All persons depositing flour, grain, etc. must pay, before taken away, the following storage, viz. For each barrel of flour 6 cents: if it remains in said warehouse over 1 month 8 cents; & in the same proportion for the time it may remain. For each bushel of wheat or other grain two cents; if it remains over one month three cents: and in the same proportion for the time it may remain. And for all articles of merchandise a reasonable storage only will be demanded. Persons storing flour may have it inspected, or not, at their option. If not inspected, the agent's receipt will specify the brand and the state of the barrels. The weight of one bushel wheat, running measure of each load or parcel of wheat. All articles stored, the same to be returned to the owner when called for, be it flour, wheat, other grain, etc. Customary allowances for wastage, etc. expected.

Quantico Warehouse is situated on Quantico Creek, only two miles from its junction with the Potomac river, at all times navigable for lighters. There are belonging to this creek a sufficient number of lighters to ensure a brisk transportation down the creek of all articles stored. Vessels may be got to take produce to the district of Columbia, Baltimore, Norfolk, or elsewhere. The present freights are—To the district twelve and half cents per barrel of flour and to Baltimore and Norfolk 25 cents from the mouth of Quantico. The proximity of this warehouse to a large extent of country, added to the goodness of roads leading to it from the westward being little inferior to paved ones. It being found by actual survey little more than 25 miles from Hay Market to Dumfries, will, it is confidently believed by the trustees, by this rout greatly lessen the expense of transportation of produce even to the district of Columbia, and they pledge themselves to the public to use every means within their power to give satisfaction.

JAMES KENNEDY & SON,

BOOKSELLERS, KING STREET,

Have just received from LEE'S PATENT MEDICINE Store, No. 46 Maiden Lane, N. York.

A FRESH SUPPLY

Of the following genuine Medicines.

For the prevention and cure of Bilious and Malignant Fevers, is recommended

Hahn's Anti-Bilious Pills.

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings, in several parts of the West Indies, and the Southern & Middle States, particularly in N. York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Petersburg, Richmond, Norfolk, Edenton, Wilmington, Charleston, and Savannah. The testimony of a number of persons at each of the above places can be adduced, who have reason to believe, that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives, when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy, founded on mere assertion.

It is not, indeed, presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience, for believing that a dose of these Pills, taken once in every two weeks, during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventative; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases, their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate, and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation, and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to cary off superfluous bile & prevent its morbid secretions—to restore & ass'd the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which is so often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance,—they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

HAMILTON'S WORM DESTROYING LOZENGES.

Which have cured an immense number of persons of both sexes, of every age, and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from worms, and from obstructions orfoulness in their stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of, as operating with violence; on the contrary, a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and perfectly in It contains nothing but what is constitution nocent, and is also mild in its operation. cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old. should no worms exist in the body; but will, without pain or griping, cleanse the stomach and bowels, of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms, and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

DESCRIPTION OF WORMS.

And the symptoms by which they are known:

Worms which infest the human body, are chiefly of four kinds, viz.—The Teres, or large round worm; the Ascarides, or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitina, or short, flat, white worm; and lastly, the Tænia, or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long, and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food, and sometimes voracious; purging, with slimy & fetid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; slow fever, with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face heated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms, should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success, in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of cluni"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys the hand[s] of the infa[nt] part of our citizens [th]roughout the middle and [so] tain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout asthmatic gout, palsy, lumbagoo, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc.

The Genuine Persian Lotion.

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellant minerals, (the basis of other lotions) and of unparralled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflamatory redness, scurfs, tetters, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c. The Persian Lotion operates mildly, without impeding the natural, insensible perspiration, which is essential to health, yet its effects are speedy and permanent, rendering the skin delicately soft and smooth and improving the complexion.

The Restorative Powder for the teeth and Gums.

This excellent preparation comforts and strengthens the gums, preserves the enamel from decay, and cleanses and whitens the teeth, by absorbing all the acrimonious slime and foulness, which suffered to accumulate, never fails to injure and finally ruin them.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative,

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of the various complaints resulting from dissipated pleasures, juvenile indiscretions, residence in climates unfavourable to the constitution, the immoderate use of tea, frequent inoxication or any other destructive intemperance the unskilful or excessive use of mercury, the diseases peculiar to females at a certain period of life, bad lyings in, &c

Land for Sale

A tract or parcel of Land, containing between two and three hundred acres, on the north side of Occoquan in Fairfax county, about 5 miles west of Occoquan mills. It is well watered with never failing springs, it is also well timbered, and the great quantity of fur timber on it renders it the more valuable to any person in the coopering line. This land is of the middle soil, and produces corn wheat or any other grain tolerable well—there is about 100 acres cleared and under good fence. The improvements are a big dwelling house & other out houses and a good apple orchard of about sixty trees.

ALSO,

One other tract in the same county within three miles of Occoquan, lying on Sandy Run, containing 47 acres—one half in cultivation and under good fence the remainder heavily timbered. There are on the premises an old framed dwelling house and out houses and an apple orchard of eighty bearing trees.

Any person inclining to purchase can view the premises and know the terms by applying to the subscriber who live near them.

PAUL'S

Patent Columbian Oil.

In respect to which the Proprietor observes:—

"THE great sales of the Columbian Oil, since it has been brought before the public, prove its intrinsic value, and is a pleasing foreboding of what we have to expect from its more extensive circulation.

Many interesting certificates might be furnished, testifying to the great value of the Columbian Oil, but we have preferred giving but few, wishing to rest more on the merits of the medicine, than on the effects produced by certificates from a source however respectable.

The following are among the complaints in which the Columbian Oil has been found very efficacious, viz. rheumatism consumption, gout, pains in any part of the body, but more particularly of the back and breast; asthma, phthisic, influenza, colds, coughs, whooping cough, diseases of the eye and eye lids, tooth ache, ear ache, and deafness, cholic cramps, external and internal bruises sprains and flesh wounds old sores, ulcers, felons, scalds, burns, mumps, dysentery or flux, croup, quinzy, diarho or lax, summer complaint of children indigestion, loss of appetite, nervous debility, piles, mercurial diseases, especially in those cases where the system has been charged with mercury for some considerable time, and in those excruciating pains subsequent to its too great use and exposure. Herpes, or diseases of the skin, such as ring worms, tetters, scald head, &c. stiffness of joints and limbs, palsy ague and fever, cholera morbus, gravel, gleetes, obstructed urine, scurvy, and in almost all cases of a general or local nature.

We are aware that in recommending a medicine in so many diseases, the public, especially those who have not used the Oil, may be induced to question its virtues, but a disposition of this nature will soon be dissipated, when they are informed that a great proportion of the diseases are owing to the same general cause—And in those cases where the diseases differ materially in their nature, the effects produced are nearly the same, although not on the same principle.

A supply of the above just received and for sale by RICHARD H. LITTLE, Druggist, King street.

ON HAND,

Best Spanish Segars, and prime chewing Tobacco.
